DEATH OF A PRIEST .- Father O'Rielly, of Atlanta, Ga., dled at Greenbrier Springs, Virginia, Friday morning, of disease of the liver. He was about forty years of age, and well known throughout Georgia.

cher to Pompey Jenkins.....

AN EDITOR IN TROUBLE .- G. D. Fox, editor of the Southern Celt, was arrested yesterday at the instance of Colonel Wm. N. Taft, and taken before Trial Justice A. M. Mackey on a charge of libel. The ground for the suit was an article published in last Saturday's issue of the Celt, charging the Mackey delegation to the Columbia Convention with having received twenty-five hundred dollars for their vote. Fox was committed to jail in default of one thousand dollars bail. He will, however, be probably released this morning.

FINE BUSINESS OFFICES .- The new Cotton Exchange now being rapidly brought to completion has the eastern portion of the building devoted to finely-arranged offices, which we learn have all been taken. They are elegantly located for light and ventilation, and will enable merchants to perform their labors in the greatest possible comfort. The most eastern of the number on the first floor was occupied yesterday by Messrs. Witte Brothers, prominent cotton factors, who have a double office immediately near the water, with every facility for transacting their cotton sales, the upland as well as the sea island department, each having a separate room, which appear to possess every convenience for the satisfac tory movement, of their business operations.

DISSOLUTION OF AN OLD FIRM .- The firm of H. F. Baker & Co., formed in 1851, by Captain H. F. Baker and Mr. E. F. Sweegan, is dissolved by mutual consent, after a continuous existence of more than twenty years. Captain Baker was an old shipmaster trading for many years between this port and Philadelphia and the West Indies. Mr. Sweegan was brought up in the house of Mr. William Patton, shipping agent in this city, and has occapled many positions of public trust, being at this time one of the aldermen of Charleston. Captain Baker will continue the coal and shipping and commission business at No. 20 Cumberland street. Mr. Sweegan has opened his office for the transaction of ship brokerage coal and commission business on Centra wharf. We wish both gentlemen a great deal of success.

A GREETING FROM GREELEY .- At a meeting of the Charleston Typographical Society, held on the evening of the 3d ult., a committee was appointed to transmit to the Hon. Horace Greeley a complimentary and congratulatory resolution upon his nomination and probable election as President of the United States. That committee has performed the duty entrusted to it, and received in reply the following autographic letter of the coming printer-

New York, September 3, 1872. Gentlemen—I thank you for the generous opinion of me embodied in your letter of the 5th ultimo, and for the eloquent language in which it is expressed. Trusting that I may be of some service in restoring a better un-derstanding between our people, North and South, and that you may rejoice in the re-es-tablishment of a perfect union between them,

I remain, yours,
HORACE GREELEY. Messrs. James H. Murrell, F. W. Dawson, James Bonan, committee, Charleston Typo-graphical Society, Charleston, S. C. A BRUTAL MURDER.

Trial Justice L. I. Woolf Shoots and Kills the Clerk of the County Commissioners.

About eight o'clock last evening, Henry L. Perrin, clerk of the board of county commissioners, was shot and instantly killed by Trial Justice L. I. Woolf, on Meeting street, opposite City Park. The two men, in company with Deputy United States Marshals Hendricks and Reld, had been conversing in front of Wulbern's restaurant, a short distance

Woolf, who was in liquor, took offence at some trivial remark of Perrin's and cursed him as a d-d blackguard. Perrin sald, "Woolf, do not call me a blackguard." Woolf, however, repeated the assertion, whereupon Perrin struck him in the face with his hand. Woolf made an attempt to return the blow, but was seized by Hendricks before he could do so. The latter led him into the restaurant, and endeavored to persuade him that the blow had been struck in jest. In the meanwhile Perrin and Reid walked down Meeting street in the direction of Broad street. After some persuasion on Hendricks's part, Woolf consented to make no further attempt to renew the altercation, and on saying that the matter would be dropped there, the former released his hold. Woolf then went to the bar in a rear room and called for a drink, Hendricks remaining in the vestibule. While drinking the liquor Woolf told the proprietor, Mr. Wulbern, that he INTENDED TO SHOOT PERRIN. and as soon as he left the bar Mr. Wulbern Informed Hendricks, who was still in the vestibule, to that effect. Woolf by this time had stepped into the street whither Hendricks followed as soon as he learned of Wooli's avowal of a murderous intention. The latter overtook Perrin and Reid in front of Major Corbin's residence, and drew a revolver. Perrin turned partly 'round and cried, "Don't shoot, I am unarmed." Woolf fired twice, however, in quick succession, and it is alleged, was about to fire a third time, when the pistol was wrenched from his grasp by Hendricks. Perrin fell to the pavement and instantly expired. Several detectives and a policeman having been attracted by the reports of the pistol, now appeared upon the scene,

ARRESTED THE MURDERER and carried him to the Guardhouse, where he is now confined. In the meantime a dense crowd had assembled upon the scene, and pressed around the body with all the eagerness of excited curiosity. Lieutenant Chapman, of the police force, being present, ordered a city ambulance and had the body conveyed to the residence of County Commissioner F. C. Miller, on Meeting street, opposite Water. Here a jury of inquest was impanelled by Coroner Tait, which immediately afterwards adjourned, to meet at ten o'clock this morning, in the coroner's office.

THE MURDERED MAN Perrin is said to have been of a remarkably inoffensive nature, unobtrusive and jovial in disposition, and was much liked by all who knew him. He was thirty-eight years old, and a native of New York, but has been a resident of this city since 1865. His father was celebrated for his love of the turf and fine horses, having once been the owner of the renowned Flora Temple. He was also for a number of years president of the Butchers' and Drovers' Bank, of New York city. An elder brother of the deceased is now president of that institution. Perrin was for a long time A MEMBER OF HOOK AND LADDER COMPANY, NO. 1, of this city, in which organization his congenial manners won him many friends. He is represented as having been perfectly sober at the time of the shooting. He was struck by one ball, which entered the right breast near the dividing line, a little below the collar bone, with an inclination to the left, and probably passed through the heart.

CITY IMPROVEMENTS.

Handsome Improvements in the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance

Messrs, C. T. Lowndes & Co., the general agents for this State of the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company, have recently been making handsome improvements in their building, No. 10 Bread street, and now have one of the neatest and most commodious business offices in the city. The building, which was purchased some years ago by the insurance company from the directors of the Bank of Charleston, is a fine two-story building, twenty-seven feet front and sixty feet deep, with an elaborate brown stone front, having three long windows on each floor, with semi-circular headings, and two rows of heavy brown stone balustrades. The front is in good condition and has not been improved, except by the painting of large gold signs on the columns of the ground floor and the intervening transoms, bearing the name of the company and of the gentlemen (Messrs. C. T. Lowndes and William Thayer,) composing the firm which represents it. The interior of the office, which occupies the whole of the first floor, has been repainted and extensively decorated. The walls of the front room are now painted in a delicate French gray tint, and the arched ceiling, which is twenty teet high in the centre, is laid off in tinted squares divided by ribs of a slightly different tint, and finished with a large and ornamental centreplece. Around the base of the celling is a broad modillioned cornice painted white, and around each door and window is an oak beading terminating in a semi-circular arch, and forming a pleasing contrast to the light tinted walls. The rear room or private office of the firm is entered by means of large oak folding doors, occupying an arched passage-way, and is finished in a style similar to that of the front office, with tinted walls and oak doors and trimmings. On the rear of the building is a plazza supported by an ornamental iron lattice, and overlooking the yard and board room of the Bank of Charleston property, of which this building was originally a part. The whole appearance of the office is neat, effective and very creditable to the substantial company for whose representatives it has been arranged.

RATIFICATION MEETING AT ORANGE-BURG.

A Moses ratification meeting was held at Orangeburg Courthouse, last Saturday, at which about two thousand persons are said to have been present. Speeches were made by T. H. Cooke, a former candidate for solicitor of this circuit; Solomon L. Hoge, candidate on the Moses ticket for comptroller-general; C. W. Butiz, one of the many candidates at the present time for solicitor of this circuit; J. Felder Meyers, quondam editor of the Cnarles ton Republican and others. Cooke and Meyers spoke on county issues, both being aspirants for local distinction. Hoge spoke upon the national question-Grant or Greeley. Buttz entered into judicial speculations with a view to convincing his hearers that he was the best person for solicitor. Resolutions ratliying the whole Moses ticket and Butiz as solicitor were adopted. The meeting adjourned after an orderly session. In the evening another meeting, of one or two hundred persons, was held in the courthouse, at which some of the lesser lights, such as Primus Green and Henry Baker, of Charleston, imparted their effulgence to the gaping sons of the night. This meeting was not quite as orderly as the other. Byas, a Republican of legislative fame, attempted to express some mild differences of opinion with Green and Baker, but was hissed and hushed up. At the end of the meeting Green and Baker were placed in a carriage and escorted to their hotel by a guard.

AN APPEAL FROM THE VESTRY OF CHRIST CHURCH.

Toall Members of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America.

The undersigned vestrymen and wardens of Christ Church, Charles fully make this appeal to their brethren:

The termination of the recent unhappy civil contest found our church without funds and closed. The disturbing elements of war and the excitement following in the wake of such a struggle as that which burst upon our coun-try so suddenly, like the "lury of a whirid." scattered our congregation, and found them at our reorganization, after the lapse of more than ten years, as "sheep havno shepherd." Our church up to 1860 and even later than that period was in a flourish ing condition. Our congregation was large and increasing, and the comfortable Gospel of Christ, through the ministrations of our beloved and devoted rector, whom we have recalled to his old charge, was steadily sin-ning souls to the service and obedience of ning souls to the souly true potentate—"King Him who is the only true potentate—"King of Kings and Lord of Lords," Our Sunday-school was well and regularly attended, and we feel convinced that the seed sown in this frection has not fallen upon "stony ground. We can now point with pride to some of our former scholars, who, in a quiet and unostentatious way, shine as lights in a dark world, seen and leit of men. Their consistent Christian lives are examples of the good Christian lives are examples of the good wrought through this powerful medium. We desire, therefore, of all those who have the interest of true religion at heart to co-operate with us in this labor of love, and enable us to place this charch upon a strong financial basis. Our wants are great, our means limited. On every hand we cehold the material for effective work. The field is a wide and inviting one, and we believe that with the proper effort on our part and aid from our friends. effort on our part and aid from our friends, many now famishing for the bread of life can be fed, many thirsty souls filled. This effort we pledge ourselves to make. We now ask of our friends to contribute their aid. Will they refuse it? "He that remembereth the nearly all presents the lard will deliver him in they refuse it? "He that remembered the poor and needy, the Lord will deliver him in the time of trouble;" and again, "To do good and to distribute forget not, for with such sacrifices God is weil pleased."

We again urge upon all Christians throughout the length and breauth of this vast country, not to treat lightly nor listlessly this appeal, to cast aside sectional prejudice, if any they have. For a we not a common brother they have. For are we not a common brother-hood, and is not this a common cause in which we fight? And perchance, even in some disant spot, some earnest and pious follower the gospel reading this appeal—the out-gush-ing of honest hearts—and inspired by that sense of duty which animates us, may have his sense of only which adminates up to the help of sympathies moved to "come up to the help of the Lord against the mighty."

THE BROAD STREET FIRE .- The investigation by the city recorder and the chief of the fire department into the cause of the recent fire at Messrs. Walker, Evans & Cogswell's establishment, was concluded on Saturday. After the strictest examination of the circumstances connected with the fire, they could find no grounds for any other conclusion than that the fire was the result either of accident or spontaneous combustion, but that they were unable to form any conjectures as to how either of these causes could have originated. That the fire was not the work of an incendiary was fully established by the fact that it broke out in the third story, the avenues of approach to which were all found securely locked when the firemen arrived. It was a rule of the establishment that each foreman should supervise the closing of his department atter the workmen had left in the evening, and on the evening preceding the fire the fastenings of the whole house were inspected by a clerk of the business department, who found

The New York Cotton Market. NEW YORK, September 6, 1872.

NEW YORK, reptember 6, 1872.

The Financial Chronicle says: The m. rket for cotton the past week has been active and advancing, quotations closing at \( \frac{1}{2} \) c. higher on the spot, and 3 is a 9-16c. for future delivery, the most decided improvement being for the winter months, and the period of speculative activity extended so as to include March. The greatest buoyancy pervaded immediately subsequent to our last. In three days the sales were about 5000 bases on the spot, and 92,000 bales for inture delivery, and during that period most of the advance quoted above took place. In fact, on Wednes 187, though cotton on the spot was quoted at \( \frac{1}{2} \) advance, for future delivery, there was some decline; September and October were lower, but November and December were 116c. higher, but for it de delivery there was only a partial advance of 1 isc. and December were 1.18c. higher, out the same of 1.18c. ivery there was only a partial advance of 1.18c. ivery there was only a partial advance of 1.18c. ivery the market was firm on the spot and better for the future, but, on the whole, averaged about as on Monday last.

The cause of the action of the growing belief that the befound solely in the growing belief that the new crop has been much injured by worms and rost. Many parties, who has been selling heavily rost. Many parties, who has been selling heavily rost. rust. Many parti-19, who had been selling neavity is anticipation of a decline under a large and early crop, have not only covered their contracts, but have purchased freely in anticipation of a rise. The demand has also been good for export and consumption, and these orders have come upon nearly bare markets and very poor assortments. The prices for futures last reported were (basis low middling) 20% for September; 1918-16 for October; 19% for November; 19% for December; 203-18c for January; 20% for February, and 211-16c for March. The total sales of this description for the week are 137,950 bales. For immediate delivery, the total sales oot up this week 12,557 bales, including 3905 for export, 8435 for consumption, 22 for speculation and 225 in transit. Of the above, 881 bales were to arrive.

The Weather and the Cotton Crop. The Weather and the Conton Crop.

The New York Financial Chronicle, of September 7, 1872, says: Our information in regard to the crop, received to night, shows more clearly where the principal damage has been done, and indicates that at some points the plant is still in a promising condition, though on the whole the reports are not assuring. It would seem that in Alabama especially the successive rains, the food, the caterpliars and the rost have worked with pretty severe effect upon the cotton plant in some portions of the State, leaving apparently very little. In fact, our correspondent at Mobile says pretty severe effect upon the cotton plant in some portions of the State, leaving apparently very little. In fact, our correspondent at Mobile says that the crop will be very poor, probaby a total failure, and from Montgomery we received about the same report. At Selma, however, it has been warm and dry all the week, and as the cotton is opening rapidly and plexing is being nushed for opening rapidly and picking is being pushed for ward satisfactorily, a more hopeful feeling ap-nears to prevail. How far Mississippi is ward satisfactorily, a more noperal retenting appears to prevail. How far Mississippi is suffering under the same unfavorable conditions we do not inly know, though it would seem by the complaints from portions of the State, that considerable injury is supposed to have been done. Our correspondent at New Orleans believes that the reports with regard to the caterpillars in that State are exaggerated; thus been warm and dry there this week. From Galveston our telegram states that the crop will be poor it has rained there one day, and the cutton is being picked and forwarded to market rapidly. Our Georgia reports are better, though complaints of caterpillar continue. From Memphis our correspondent states that much damage has been done. They estimate that, by reason of drought, rust and worms, the yield promises to be one-fourth less than was anticipated.

SUGARS.—The continued high pretensions of holders, combined with the irregularity of gold and exchanges, has kept buyers out of the market, and only when very good and well-condition. ed lots were offered on reasonable terms they have been able to operate; but as these instances were lew, next to nothing has neen done.
